CRACK TRAIN PURPOSELY DERAILED, IS CLAIM

S.P. Eastbound Leaves Rails Near Maricopa, Ariz., and Fireman Meets Death

SAN FRANCISCO, Sept. 9.—One trainman was killed, another seriously injured, and five passengers less seriously hurt early today when the eastbound Sunset Limited on the Southern Pacific was derailed near Maricopa, Ariz., according to a report received at the headquarters of the railroad here today.

There was evidence that an attempt had been made to tamper with the rails causing the wreck. An investigation revealed that the nuts had been removed from at least three bolts holding the rail at the point where the wreck occurred.

A dispatch from Tucson stated that a board of inquiry there today had begun an investigation of the wreck. It was stated that evidence was being offered to prove that bolts holding a rail in position had been removed.

Fireman Meets Death
Fireman G. Ward was killed, and Conductor Anderson who was "deadheaded" in the baggage car was seriously injured. Names of the injured passengers had not been received.

The injured and all other passengers were taken to Maricopa soon after the wreck occurred and there transferred to the Golden State Limited which was following.

The train was running at a speed of about forty-five miles an hour when the tampered section of the rail was struck. Despite this speed the train of ten cars was stopped within five car lengths.

Cars Leave Rails
The engine, mail car, baggage car and a tourist sleeper left the tracks and three Pullman cars left the rails but remain on the ties.

The train was in charge of Engineer E. Shelley and Conductor J. Omar. It was proceeding, according to the reports, at its usual speed at that point.

An investigation was immediately started to determine the cause of the derailment and the tampered section of rail discovered.

Officers were expected on the scene early today to search for the person responsible and to determine, if possible, the motive for wrecking the crack passenger train.

OCONEE, Neb., Sept. 9.—One man was instantly killed and three people were injured when Union Pacific combination passenger and freight train No. 79, westbound, crashed into the rear end of No. 77, also a passenger and freight, northbound to Norfolk.

The dead man is Clem Sheridan, 20, of Platte Center, Neb., brakeman on No. 79. Sheridan was crushed between the engine and the tender. Harry Fleharty of Omaha, Democratic candidate for attorney general, was among the injured. He suffered severe bruises and lacerations.

Leopold Offers to Bet on His Hanging

CHICAGO, Sept. 9.—"Let's bet on whether or not Dicky and I get hanged." This was the greeting of Nathan F. Leopold, Jr., to newspapermen, who visited his cell in the county jail today for their last interview before he and his companion, Richard A. Loeb, are marched into a closely guarded courtroom tomorrow at 9:30 o'clock to hear Judge John R. Caverly pronounce their sentence for the slaying of Robert Franks.

Leopold reached into his pockets and drew out a few bills. "Here," he cried to one of the reporters, "I'll bet you all I've got and I'll take either end of the bet you say. I'll bet we do or I'll bet we don't. Or, better still, we'll make it a 'parley' and get Dicky and Russell Scott in on it."

Scott occupies an adjoining cell, awaiting a retrial on a murder charge. The bet was not taken, however, for at that point a jail officer came up and said gambling isn't allowed in jails.

Storms Fail to Halt Plans Of Powers In Guarding Foreign Settlement

By BERT KUHN
For International News Service.

SHANGHAI, Sept. 9.—Torrential rains tonight came to the assistance of the hard-pressed Chekiang forces.

Dispatches from the front indicated that the Chekiang counter-attack in the neighborhood of Liubo had resulted in gains and that they were fighting desperately along the railroad to hold off movement of Kiangsu reinforcements.

It was believed the heavy rains would make impossible further advance during the night.

The firing west of the city died away with nightfall.

The rains failed to interrupt the work of the new forces of American, British, Japanese and Italian marines in the harbor. They were carrying out their settlement defense and tonight an armed patrol encircled its border.

FIGHT CLOUDS IN MAKING TRIP TO CAPITAL

Threatening Weather Forces Aviators to Descend While on Journey

WASHINGTON, Sept. 9.—Sweeping toward the finish of their circumnavigation of the globe, the United States army round the world flyers reached the national capital this afternoon from New York and were greeted at Bolling field by President Coolidge and other government officials.

Two of the three world-circling planes, piloted by Lieutenants Lowell H. Smith and Leigh Wade, swept in over the house tops of Washington at 2:20 p. m. and landed at the army flying field at 3:02 p. m.

Plane No. 2, the Chicago, piloted by Lieutenant Smith, was the first to land. Lieutenant Wade, in the Boston, landed at 3:03 p. m.

Lieutenant Nelson was forced down ten miles out of Baltimore and did not come in with Smith and Wade. The plane that at first was reported to be Nelson's was piloted by Major-General Mason M. Patrick, chief of the air service, who accompanied the flyers from New York.

Nelson was forced to land when he stripped the gears of his plane, Patrick explained, and brought his plane to the ground without injuring either himself or the plane.

Nelson Arrives
A repair plane was sent from Bolling field to aid him. Nelson swept into Bolling field at 3:20 p. m. as a passenger in an escort plane which picked him up.

President Coolidge took off his hat and joined in the cheering as Smith and Wade landed, rushing up immediately to shake hands with the airmen and officially welcoming them back to the United States.

The president and Mrs. Coolidge left the field at 3:25 p. m. to return to the White House, and Smith and Wade were taken in an automobile to Washington as the guests of General Patrick.

All Forced Down

All of the flyers were forced down by dark rain clouds at noon near Aberdeen, Md., but soon afterward took to the air again. However, they flew low to avoid the threatening storm clouds.

Arriving from Aberdeen and passing over Bolling field the airmen swung southward crossing the Potomac river into Virginia and circling over Arlington National cemetery where they dropped flowers on the grave of the unknown soldier before landing.

Despite a drizzle of rain, a large crowd, augmented shortly before noon by President Coolidge and the members of his cabinet, gathered to extend an official welcome to the American round-the-world flyers.

Shortly after noon the rain ceased entirely and a warm sun came out.

President Posed
Brigadier-General William Mitchell, assistant chief of the army air service, in a speedy scout plane, went aloft several times during the morning to ascertain the weather conditions

GLENDALE IS MAINTAINING BUILDING RECORD POSITION

City Stands Fifth In Pacific Southwest For Month of August, Being Ahead of Every Community of Similar Population

Building operations in the Pacific Southwest for the month of August, 1924, make a very good showing despite the large loss compared with August of last year, when building in this territory reached the high mark. Forty-five cities, including Los Angeles, report for August, 1924, building permits aggregating $23,194,078, as compared with $31,007,748 for the same month a year ago. A gain is shown in comparison with the preceding month, July.

Fifty cities, including Los Angeles, reported for July a total of $20,748,587, nearly two and a half millions less than the August total.

A better showing was made by cities outside Los Angeles, as a whole, than was expected. Forty-four cities outside Los Angeles reported a total for August, 1924, of $9,300,983, as compared with a total of $9,148,805 for the preceding month, July, and $7,813,670 for August, 1923.

Glendale Is Among Leading Communities

San Diego led the cities outside Los Angeles with a total more than double that for August, 1923, and Pasadena was second with a total a little less than twice that which it reported for August a year ago. Long Beach remained in the million dollar class notwithstanding a loss of half a million dollars compared with August, 1923. Glendale was fourth in the list, Beverly Hills was fifth and Fullerton sixth, the last two mentioned cities showing heavy gains compared with August, 1923.

The treasury of the Tujunga Women's club is about $200 richer from the work of members in conducting a food booth during the Moon Festival last week.

Classes in landscape, portrait and still life painting and linocut drawings are being formed at the Laura Lee Art studio. Mrs. Nellie Horne will have charge of the portrait painting. It is also planned to form a Saturday morning class for school children.

RAISE IN VALUE CUTS TAX RATES

Slash In School Assessment Also Aids Burbank To Reduce Levy

BURBANK, Sept. 9.—The total levy on local taxpayers has been fixed by the Los Angeles county Board of Supervisors at $3.97 for the fiscal year starting July 1, as compared with $4.18 last year, a decrease of 21 cents. The Glendale rate this year is $3.81, a reduction of 18 cents from the $3.99 of a year ago.

The cut in the Burbank tax rate is accomplished partially because of a slash in the tax for school purposes, and partially by reason of an assessed valuation of $11,286,955, almost double the $6,558,070 of a year ago. The following table gives the comparison:

	1923-24	1924-25
City tax	$1.15	$1.13
School tax	2.23	2.05
County tax	.23	.68
Library	.05	.04
Flood control	.07	.07

Total $4.18 $3.97

By taking off the $1.13 for Burbank municipal tax and adding 30 cents for road tax there is a total of $3.14 which is the total of the Burbank school district tax outside of the city of Burbank.

Touring in North

Mr. and Mrs. Earl E. White and family have left on a tour of Northern California and Oregon, where they will enjoy a vacation near to nature. While on the trip, Mr. White hopes to get the small bear and deer as the nucleus for a zoo in the park on his place in the Magnolia park section.

Committee to Confer On Water Situation

LA CRESCENTA, Sept. 9.—The committee appointed to investigate the water situation in the La Crescenta valley, in connection with the sinking of wells in La Crescenta, will meet tonight at the home of Mark Collins, East Prospect avenue. The meeting was held Saturday night at La Crescenta schoolhouse, on the call of the La Crescenta Improvement association, considered in all its aspects the plans of La Canada water district to pipe water from its wells in La Crescenta valley to supply the means of La Canada, claiming that the carrying out of this plan would drain the water from La Crescenta.

The members of the committee are F. Kemper, R. Saulsbury, J.

RADIO TO CARRY PERSHING SPEECH

Reserve Officers Will Hear Secretary Wilbur Speak On Defense Day

By GIL A. COWAN
For Southland News Service.
LOS ANGELES, Sept. 9.—As a crowning feature of the observance of Defense Day, September 12, the Reserve Officers' association will hold a banquet in the Biltmore hotel at 6:30 p. m., at which time General John J. Pershing's farewell address to the army will be received over the radio, Major General Kuhn will speak and the oration of the evening will be given by Judge Curtis D. Wilbur, secretary of the United States navy.

While the banquet is open to the public, the reserve officers and the association of the army have been accorded the privilege of making reservations today, and it is expected they will attend in uniform. The program is such as to attract widespread attention, not only due to the importance of the day, but the fact that General Pershing's speech will be one written into history.

Credit to Pershing

Defense Day is the culmination of the Pershing plan, although it is not commonly called that, for civilian preparedness. In the last issue of the American Legion weekly his work is summarized, and due credit given him for placing the United States of America on an entirely new basis of military organization.

The speech of Curtis D. Wilbur, that of a native son of Los Angeles who has risen to high position of navy secretary in the Coolidge cabinet, also holds forth promise with Navy Day October 27, in the offing. The secretary will be fresh from a day of rest at Catalina, and on Saturday he will inspect the defenses of the port and review the Pacific fleet, a prime event in the sailor's life.

EAGLE ROCK GETS EXTRA POLICEMEN

Assign Five 'Crime Crushers' To Branch Station as Details Changed

EAGLE ROCK, Sept. 9.—Five "crime crushers" from the special brigade of August Vollmer, ex-police chief of Los Angeles, have been added to the local station, it is learned through Chief Robert Lee Heath of the department.

The work of the crime crushers having been turned over to the detective bureau at Central station, 150 policemen became available for duty in the various sections of the city, and Eagle Rock was allotted five men as well as additional machines for patrol.

The new officers include Elmer Gee, local resident, who was formerly on duty here, but was transferred to the Lincoln Heights division, has returned to Eagle Rock. The others are Officers Turkey, James, Wing and Kopytek.

Following is the schedule which became effective September 1. Day: P. C. Ross, acting lieutenant; W. H. Whaling, sergeant; Irwin Strangeland and Brown. Night: Sergeant Pyron; Officers Robertson, Turkey, James, Gee and Wing. Morning: Sergeant J. P. Conley; Officers Marshall, Hiller and Kopytek.

Asks Co-operation

One of the first essentials for efficient protection of a district is the co-operation of the residents, states Lieutenant Ross. Disturbances of a suspicious character, burglaries and other matters of a similar nature should be communicated to the police without delay. Phone Garfield 5380.

The open meeting of the Community Players' association, set for Thursday, September 11, has been postponed until September 25. Special program numbers are being arranged for the next open night, and it was found advisable by the program chairman and hostess, Mr. and Mrs. Frederick Beach, to postpone the open night program.

There will be a meeting of the P.-T. A. board at Eagle Rock school September 15. The first open P.-T. A. meeting will be held Monday afternoon, September 20. The second Wednesday afternoon of each month has been established as the regular meeting day for the coming year.

Miss Emilie Cooper and Miss Edythe Cooper, former residents of Eagle Rock, have come to live with Mrs. Cooper's mother, Mrs. S. W. Broxholme, at 4949 Vincent avenue.

OBSERVE STATE'S ENTRY TO UNION

John Steven McGroarty Main Speaker at Exercises At San Fernando

SAN FERNANDO, Sept. 9.—The old mission here was the scene today of a monster celebration in honor of the seventy-fourth anniversary of California's admission to the union. An historic tableau portraying the signing of the treaty between General Andres Pico and Colonel John C. Fremont was presented and John Steven McGroarty delivered the address of the day.

A program of athletics, including several boxing bouts, was staged. Music was furnished by the Kiwanis band of Van Nuys and the San Fernando Valley Boy Scout band. The Native Sons of the Golden West, Native Daughters of California and many other patriotic and civic organizations participated in the numerous events.

Thousands of pupils from the public schools were gathered in and around the aged mission and lent to the scene a brilliant dash of color. A company of players from the Lincoln Heights division, performed throughout the day in the manner of old Spanish troubadours.

HIGH SCHOOL BAN PUT ON SPELLING

Grammar Grade Pupils Must Prepare Themselves Before Graduation, Is Ruling

Pupils who plan to enter the Glendale Union High school a year from now had better commit to memory a few such verses as:

"If the letter 'e' you spy, Put the 'e' before the 'i'—"
 for after July 1, 1925, the common or garden variety of spelling will not be permitted as a high school course, under a ruling just received from the state board of education by Principal George U. Moyses.

It would be a good idea for those who crave a higher education to master the multiplication table and acquire a legible handwriting as well, for after that date, those subjects, too, will be taboo, according to the ruling.

In short, as Mr. Moyses explains the decision of the state board of education, the time has come when pupils must be adepts in "the three R's" before entering high school, as these are regarded as preliminaries of a higher education and should be mastered in grammar school.

Already Complying
 This ruling will not entirely ban spelling, penmanship and arithmetic, however, Mr. Moyses hastens to add, lest the shock on the nervous system of the neophyte be greater than can be endured. As he puts it:

"Unless the content of these courses is strictly high school

Republican County Central Body to Meet Wednesday

Members of the Republican County Central committee elected at the August primary are called to their first meeting tomorrow afternoon at 2 o'clock in Room 359, Department 32, third floor of the old court house in Los Angeles. The Glendale Evening News is informed by John Robert White of this city, a member of the committee.

It is stated that election of officers and plans for the activities of the Republican party in this county are on the program. The meeting was first called for today, but was postponed until tomorrow, when it was ruled that it could not legally be held on a holiday.

Police Seek Man Who Impersonates Officer

The Glendale police are looking for a man who last night appeared at the home of R. M. Coremus, 481 Vine street, impersonating an officer. Mrs. Coremus was in the house alone at the time. The man showed a badge, said he was a Glendale police officer and asked if she had heard about the excitement occasioned on San Fernando road by the arrest of speeders.

While Mrs. Coremus was talking to this man, her suspicions growing, her husband appeared. The man showed a badge, said he was a Glendale police officer and asked if she had heard about the excitement occasioned on San Fernando road by the arrest of speeders.

The Glendale police records show that no speeders were arrested on San Fernando road last night.

Poet Pens Invitation To Hard Times Party

Hints of happy hard times are heralded in the invitations issued for the informal social meeting Thursday night of the Pendroy Progressive club at the Pendroy store on South Brand boulevard at Harvard street.

Miss L. Bartholomew of the store staff has penned the following invitation, which hints of what may be in store for those attending. The invitation reads:

Pendroy's Progressive Club, The jolliest bunch in town, Will hold their monthly frolic, In the basement "up side down." It will be a Hard Time Party, And he who ventures near, All dressed in his Sunday clothes, His fine will be the "bier."

The date is the 11th of September. The lunch is a surprise. All packed in little boxes, To greet the greedy eyes. So bring your wives and sweethearts, We'll give them the welcome hand, And convince them Pendroy's store, Is the best in the land.

The price you pay is limited, Not over sixty cents. So do your drawing carefully, For McNeil is on the bench. Have every girl bring a pal, The fellows do the same, Then no one will be slighted, And we'll all be in the game.

'Y' BUILDING IS OPENED TO GIRLS

Resolution by Committee Is Passed Granting Privileges One Day In Each Week

The Y. M. C. A. building, when ready for occupancy, will be open one day a week to the use of girls and women, according to official action taken by the Glendale executive committee. This good news will be hailed with delight by hundreds of girls and by their parents and friends. It makes the proposed new "Y" building for Glendale of enlarged value to the community and assures maximum service returns on the investment.

The local Y. M. C. A. committee, consisting of David Black, C. W. Ingledue, H. L. Finlay, W. F. Tower, H. P. Arnold, J. D. Lusby, J. S. Thompson and Dr. John Anderson, unanimously passed the following resolution:

WHEREAS, There exists a great need in Glendale not only for adequate facilities for the work of the Y. M. C. A. in service to the boys and young men, but for similar service to girls and young women, and, WHEREAS, A fund is to be provided by the co-operative gifts of our citizens to erect and equip a modern home for the Y. M. C. A.

THAT the Glendale Y. M. C. A. executive committee extend the use of the Y. M. C. A. building, when ready for service, to the girls and women of the community for one day in each week until such time as a Y. W. C. A. can be provided.

This means that the gymnasium, baths, swimming pool, social rooms, athletic court and other desired privileges of the Y. M. C. A. will be shared with and that proper leadership will be provided the young women.

Giving Services
 This voluntary action of the "Y" committee will no doubt meet with the entire approval of those whose contributions will make the building possible.

Many of the business and professional men being approached for service in the campaign apparently realize that this is somewhat different than the usual "drive" and are responding readily to the request for a minimum of two hours per day, on an average, to the work of soliciting. It is expected that the business men's co-operating committee of 200 will be completely recruited by tomorrow evening, when the division leaders, team captains and lieutenants will meet in a recruiting report dinner at the Alley Inn.

Teams Being Filled
 Captain W. H. Barnes of team three in the "Bear Cats" division, which is managed by C. W. Ingledue and W. F. Tower, filed the fourth fully enlisted team yesterday afternoon, and it will be credited with a subscription bonus of $400 for the first report session next Tuesday evening. The combination consists of W. H. Barnes, captain; Dr. N. C. Paine, lieutenant; Dr. A. D. Smith, W. S. Boyd, Ellsworth Kinney, T. S. Mishler, N. A. Duncan, Roy D. King, Bert Rolf and Frank Hillis.

Team No. 1, also of the "Bear Cats," was fifth in filing at 9 o'clock this morning with this formidable line-up: C. R. Blankenship, captain; B. R. Matthiesen, lieutenant; A. Jud Shepard, F. W. Harper, H. V. Adams, F. E. Matlock, E. E. Williamson, S. H. Welch, W. S. Kirk and H. C. Wilcox. The recruiting award for team one is a subscription amount of $300.

Measuring Party to Help Orphans' Home

Tuesday night, September 16, at the I. O. O. F. hall on West Broadway, the Carnation Rebekah lodge of Glendale will celebrate the seventy-third anniversary of the founding of the organization with a measuring party, a novel method of increasing the fund for the Orphans' Home at Gilroy. Instead of charging admission, the guests attending are to be measured, and are asked to pay a penny an inch for height.

The Emerson School of Self-Expression will present a full program of readings, pianologues and vocal music. Piano selections will be given by local talent. Refreshments will be served.

Entertainment is open to the public and an invitation extended to all who are interested in assisting in the worthy cause.

Mrs. Viola Eitel is chairman of the program committee.

Pumpkins are an excellent food for cows when given in proper proportions to other food.

P. T. A. Will Launch Program for Fall At Thursday Meet

Coincident with the opening of Glendale schools the Glendale Federation, Parent-Teacher associations, will begin the fall program with a meeting at 2:15 o'clock Thursday afternoon in the hall at 3223 North Brand boulevard.

Mrs. O. H. Spradling, president of the federation, states that the speakers will be Richardson D. White and R. Ernest Tucker. In addition to their talks, business matters will be considered.

OUTDOOR LIGHTS BAN IS REMOVED

Business Firms Are Allowed To Resume Electric Displays, Edict

Cities and towns of Southern California are to be put on probation by Power Supervisor H. G. Butler.

A new order has been issued by that official permitting a resumption of the wanted outdoor lighting for business houses, but it has "a string on it." It is based upon the power supervisor's belief that this relaxation will not be abused, for the need of conservation is not past. If extravagance or waste of "juice" results, it will be necessary to withdraw the privilege now granted.

Restrictions are not removed, said the power supervisor, on present schedules of street lighting, on power consumption, or on domestic lighting. The order prohibiting the power companies from taking on new burdens until the shortage is over is not revoked. The present order merely extends to the use of light for strictly business purposes.

It is made possible because, up to the present time, the communities involved have given such hearty, public-spirited support to the power-saving program by keeping within the quotas assigned to them that the situation is well in hand, and there is no further necessity of imposing loss on business. There is now sufficient supply of juice in sight to permit this exception to run until new steam-plant construction is completed in November to overcome the deficiency caused by the drop in hydro-power.

End of Emergency
 "I wish to warn the public," said Mr. Butler, "that there are two contingencies under which the bars might have to be put up again. One is any reaction to the order today that should lead to extravagance in the use of lighting current. The other is that some disaster might happen to one of the large steam plants. That would set us back right where we were in June, and the most rigid restriction would have to be imposed."

"This is the beginning of the end of the emergency which put me in charge of what threatened to be a bad situation, but it is not yet the end, and I hope everybody will realize that. We have managed so that agriculture and manufacturing industries have suffered a minimum of loss, and with good luck we shall come out of the emergency with no one very much harmed, and with a fine example of California resource and team spirit having been given to the world."

With enterprises now under way that will soon greatly increase our supply of power, it looks as if we shall never again have a shortage requiring a repetition of this summer's rules."

Alleged Deserter Is Held for Navy Orders

Chief John D. Fraser of the Glendale police department has received a telegram from naval authorities at the San Diego training station, in answer to his wire to the effect he is holding Glen Bussey, a confessed deserter, at local police headquarters. The wire asks that Bussey be held until the San Diego authorities can hear from Washington, D. C., what disposition to make of the case.

So the young man, who gave his address as 1721 Glorietta avenue when he surrendered himself yesterday, is getting "three squares" a day gratis, at the expense of the taxpayers of this city, all of which Chief Fraser is charging up to Uncle Sam.

GAS TAX HIGH

DENVER, Sept. 9.—State gasoline tax collections for the month of July totaled $193,510, the largest amount collected in any month since the tax was instituted.

CROWNING QUEEN FEATURE OF PROGRAM FOR TONIGHT

Many Glendale Organizations Plan To Attend Display At Burbank; Concert By Band To Be One Of Attractions Presented

The opening of the San Fernando Valley Industrial exposition, that is to be held at Burbank from September 9 to 13, was signaled this morning by a mammoth parade of gaily decorated cars that started from that city at 10 a. m., wound along Grand View, Kenneth road, Central avenue and over to Brand boulevard, where the motorcade rolled south on Glendale's main thoroughfare with banners flying, and horns tooting between sidewalks that held thousands of Glendale's citizens who cheered "Queen Laura" and her maids of honor and everyone else in the parade.

After reaching Los Feliz road the parade swung over toward Hollywood, giving the residents of the film metropolis a treat, and heading back over Cahuenga Pass to the Burbank fair grounds, where the exposition was officially declared open in the address of welcome that was delivered to the crowds by Mayor J. C. Crawford.

The parade was led by a police escort, followed by the queen's herald, the queen and her flower girls, city officials, Burbank Chamber of Commerce and the band, with a long string of decorated cars from Burbank, Glendale, Van Nuys, which also sent its band, Lankershim, Zelzah, Mission Acres and Sawtelle. Howard I. Wood, secretary of the Glendale Chamber of Commerce, was appointed one of the judges to decide on the best decorated cars in the parade.

In Official Car
 Mayor Spencer Robinson, Councilman S. S. Gilhuly and Dr. G. Kaemmerling, city health officer, rode in the official car representing the city of Glendale in the parade. Roy L. Rent and W. P. Hope represented the local real estate profession.

The hundreds of Glendale people who will visit the exposition tonight will see the Glendale exhibit designed by L. H. Wilson and G. L. Lyons, a sub-committee of the Glendale Chamber of Commerce advertising committee. Fifteen Glendale firms have private exhibits in the show.

Awards Are Made
 The first prize in the parade went to Mrs. Gertrude Poule of Burbank, who won $50 for having the most beautifully decorated car, and the Mission Acres landed second prize, $25, for the originality displayed in the three cars.

SOUTHLAND WILL GREET BUILDERS

National Convention to Be Held In Los Angeles In February, 1925

Contractors, builders and material dealers of Glendale and vicinity will be asked to formulate plans for special participation in the national convention of Builders' Exchanges, scheduled to be held in Los Angeles, February 23 to 26, according to Paul F. Langworthy, secretary-manager of the Los Angeles Builders' Exchange.

Southern California will be host to the national delegation of 2000 members of the building industry, who will be guests in Los Angeles during the sessions. The Los Angeles Builders' Exchange is issuing a call to all members of building crafts and material dealers in Glendale and all other cities of the Southland, to assist in arranging for the entertainment of the delegates.

Trips through Glendale and the foothills and various points of interest in Southern California are planned as a feature of the program. Special tours and an entertainment program for the wives and daughters of delegates will be arranged through the co-operation of the building industry in the cities of Southern California and the Los Angeles Builders' Exchange.

Safe money

The cautious motorist carries adequate insurance on his automobile against accident, liability, fire and theft, and he appreciates that this protection is most essential when touring.

There is another prerequisite to touring in absolute comfort and safety—the insurance of the motorist's money against loss.

Automobile tourists have found that this security may be enjoyed merely by transforming their travel funds into American Express Travelers Cheques.

Motorists the country over who wisely avail themselves of this means of escaping financial hazards find that these Travelers Cheques are acceptable everywhere, and the self-identifying feature of the Cheques makes a particularly strong appeal to them.

The sale of Travelers Cheques comprises only one of many important services this bank offers to travelers.

ADMISSION DAY

Those who go speeding up and down the broad highways of California in powerful and luxurious motor cars, or soar above in aircraft, and see the evidences of civilization and of progress on every side, can scarcely conceive of the change that has come about in one generation. Only those few now living who came across the plains and the mountains in the covered wagon in the days of '49 can correctly measure, with the mind's eye, the distance the state has covered in that short time. And, no doubt, time has somewhat dimmed their memories of the hardships and the crudities of that day.

On September 9, 1850, the United States Congress admitted California to the Union of States, after much bitter debate and discussion. And, such were the conditions in that day it was not until the following year that Californians knew their dream had come true. A ship came around the Horn to San Francisco, bringing the glad news. San Francisco declared a holiday and went wild with the news.

Los Angeles was a Mexican village. More than thirty years was to pass before Glendale was to be heard of. The missions, the military posts, a Russian settlement in the north, Fort Sutter, where several hundred emigrants were colonized, and the gold camps mainly comprised the California of that day, only a life-time ago.

Mind can scarcely conceive the change that has been wrought. Should any action be taken today by Congress of such moment to California as that taken on September 9, 1850, we should know it almost before the signatures were dry upon the document, as indeed, we know other events that happen in the far corners of the world, that do not so directly affect us. The news would almost reach us in minutes now, where it took months then.

Today California boasts of two of the largest and most important cities of the world. Her missions, the principal settlements of that day are little more than shrines now. Everywhere are growing, prosperous, thriving cities connected by smooth boulevards. The missions were built a day's journey apart for the padres. Today it is a matter of minutes to go from one mission to the next. California is a big state, but immeasurably smaller than the California of 1850, judging distance by the time it takes to cover it.

Countless other things, too numerous to mention and too common to be brought easily to mind, make California today a different state than that admitted to the Union September 9, 1850. Can the next seventy-four years see such progress? Will those who are living in 1924 look back to this day and see such a crude civilization as we see in retrospect when California first became a state?

OUR ILLITERATE VOTERS

According to the National Educational association, illiterate voters in the United States number 4,333,111 out of a potential voting population of 50,000,000. There are enough qualified voters in this country who cannot read or write to control a national election, if they were organized.

It is to the shame of the United States that we are so far behind European countries in this regard. England, Germany and the Scandinavian countries have reduced illiteracy to a point where it is chiefly confined to mental incompetents, while in the United States there are 110 counties where from one-fourth to one-half the people cannot read or write.

In Europe the education of boys has always been more advanced than that of girls, but in this country it seems girls are allowed to go to school while boys are put to work. The number of illiterate males in this country exceeds the number of illiterate females.

In the south there are 1,842,161 negroes who have not learned to read or write, and nearly as many whites.

DEALING WITH BOOTLEGGERS

The remains of a man who disappeared from his home four months ago, and who is said to have transacted some business with bootleggers, has been found. It may be that the dead man has been slandered, but at any rate, his fate should be a lesson to those who are tempted to traffic with people who make a business of law-breaking. It is but a short step from bootlegging to robbery (the prices said to be charged for much of the poison that is purveyed as whiskey amount to robbery anyway) and every robber is a potential murderer, for he knows when he attempts a job he may have to take a life to save his own skin.

That he is foolhardy is the most charitable thing that can be said of a man who keeps a rendezvous with bootleggers with money and valuables on his person.

CHOOSING A PROFESSION

If boys and girls, young men and women, who are about to decide what their life work shall be, could get the viewpoint of successful and unsuccessful men and women in all occupations and professions, it would help them to make a wise decision.

A statement recently made by Ty Cobb, considered to be the world's best baseball player and manager, is significant. Though he reached the very top of the ladder in the work which he selected, he has not, according to his statement, enjoyed the satisfaction that should come with success. He says: "If I had my time over again, I would probably be a surgeon instead of a baseball player. I have only one regret: I shall not have done any real good to humanity when I retire."

Speaking of life's little jokes; have you ever noticed how often the star pupil becomes an employee of the laziest boy in school?

'S-funny world: The surgeon saves a life and nobody cares; the gangster takes one and everybody's interested.

Wonder what a young son thinks when he sees the bootlegger's latest consignment in his father's cellar?

A whole lot of boys, rated "C" by their teachers, are rated "A-1" by Dunn and Bradstreet.

Lots of people try to get out of a bottle what they can get out of doors.

SPEAKING OF NATIONAL DEFENSE, CAN'T SOMEBODY STOP THIS?

The Self-Contained Locomotive

By DR. FRANK CRANE

The first practical test of a self-contained electric locomotive, using oil as fuel, was made yesterday by the New York Central railroad in its freight yards on Eleventh avenue, New York. This locomotive, the first of its kind made in America, was built jointly by the General Electric company and the Ingersoll-Rand company.

The locomotive is, in effect, a complete power house on wheels. It is independent of a third rail or any outside electric connections and was designed especially for switching service.

It consumes but twelve or fifteen cents' worth of fuel an hour, approximately one-third the cost of fuel used by the ordinary steam locomotive in similar service.

James McCue, for thirty-two years an employee of the New York Central, and driver of a steam locomotive since 1905, learned to operate the new locomotive after ten minutes' instruction.

"It is the simplest locomotive in the world to operate," he said. "Cleaner and much better in every respect. Just what we have needed for such yards as this."

What pleased the engineer most was that the moment he opened the throttle he had the full power of the plant at his command. There were no slow preliminary starts like those in getting an ordinary locomotive under way. The oil-burning locomotive is practically a one-man affair. A fireman is required, under the rules of the Interstate Commerce Commission, but his sole duty is to ring the bell. If an automatic bell is attached to the engine the fireman's duty will be nothing.

In the absence of smoke and in the fact that it is necessary to operate the engine only when the locomotive is in use, the new type of locomotive is much the same as an automobile.

This invention bids fair to revolutionize the motive power of railroads.

About the same time the use of the electric locomotive was demonstrated by Mr. Edison, the famous inventor. It seemed to be a practical success.

Between the two it is probable that the old-fashioned locomotive, carrying coal, will soon be a thing of the past and that the future of transportation will be entirely different from what it has been.

The electric locomotive is the kind that has been in use for some time by the Chicago, Milwaukee and St. Paul railroad.

If Whittier Had Lived in Glendale

The sun that winter day so keen,
Rose cheerful over hills of green.
And high in heaven gave at noon
A warmth that proved to all a boon.

Slow-trailing down the cloudless sky,
Its mute and happy prophecy
Of sunset colors rose and gold,
Reflecting in the east, unfold.

Refreshing coolness comes with night
A blazing wood-fire—cheerful sight.
That whips, mid-vein, the circling race
Of life blood in the happy face.

The wind blew west: we heard the roar
Of ocean on this tropic shore.
And felt the soft pulse throbbing there
Beat with sweet rhythm our inland air.

Meanwhile we did our nightly chores,
Brought in the wood from out-of-doors,
Then warmed by brilliant sunset light
The bright day darkened into night.

A night made fragrant with the rain
The whirl-dance of the drops kept on
And ere the family bedtime came Small rivers in the gutter ran.

So all night long the rain kept on,
But with the morn there came the sun,
The world, new-washed, reflects his rays
All nature turns to heaven in praise.

The air fresh-cleansed soon calls us out,
The boys with many a merry shout,
Have soon embarked on rain-filled streets,
Both argosies and merchant fleets.

The traveler owns a grateful sense
Of sweetness near, he knows not whence,
And, pausing, takes with fore-head bare
The benediction of the air.

Who's Who

Once more sinister stars appear to rule a day. Astrologers read that Mars, Saturn, Venus and the Sun are all in malefic aspect.

Again there should be caution in transacting all business, especially all that is connected with architecture or construction work.

Saturn is in a place boding ill for certain lines of industry, especially those of a semi-artistic nature.

Labor organization may cause embarrassment and even serious troubles in theatre management, the seers foretell.

Real estate and all deals in which land consideration is important should be warily dealt in at this time.

Saturn again threatens mines and mining, for there is to be anxiety regarding coal and its distribution.

Venus frowns on women today and astrologers chide those who would make conquests among men.

Selfishness and vanity may be more than commonly apparent in the feminine character at this time.

Ambition, too, may stimulate girls to seek the approbation of men of wealth and mercenary motives may be strong in many quarters.

At this time the stock market may be uncertain and wild furries may be expected.

Prices of food will be of prime interest at this time, when those who till the earth will have cause to rejoice.

Unusual happenings may be looked for at this time, for earthquakes and freak storms are indicated.

Persons whose birthdate it is should be careful of letters and writing in the coming year. Prosperity may be assured by keeping tight grip on money.

Children born on this day may be careless and inclined to enjoy themselves overmuch. These subjects of Virgo are likely to have natures that are unfathomable to most persons, especially their parents.

A New York bank is constructing in Havana, Cuba, a building to house its branch, at a cost of $1,000,000.

Cultivation of peas netted two Idaho farmers over $900.

WOMEN'S LONGING
Tell me what is that only thing
For which all women long?
Yet, having what they most desire,
To have it does them wrong?

'Tis not to be chaste, nor fair,
(Such gifts malice may impair),
Richly trimmed, to walk or ride,
Or to wanton unspied,

To preserve an honest name
And so to give it up to fame—
These are toys, in good or ill,
They desire to have their will.

Yet, when they have it, they abuse it,
For they know not how to use it.
—John Fletcher.

Gates W. McGarrah, American member of the new reparations collection commission, is one of the nation's leading bankers and had been prominent in its financial affairs for more than a generation. His selection to his new high post, while unlooked for among his colleagues in Wall street, was not a great surprise to them for it has been known for some time that he had been considered as a partner in the firm of J. P. Morgan & Co.

McGarrah is 61 years old and resides with his wife and unmarried daughter.

It was during the war and in the financial crisis that followed that McGarrah won the admiration of financial men and established the reputation which led to his present appointment. He was vice-chairman of the money committee, which handled all the Liberty loans during the war, and worked out the financial operations of the government.

Besides that he was treasurer of the United States Grain corporation, the body which financed the purchase of wheat for export to Europe both for the fighting American and allied armies and for the relief of starving millions.

For these and other duties he was awarded with the designation of Chevalier of the Legion of Honor by the French government.

In the business depression three years ago he was made a member of several important but informal committees in Wall street, and helped to organize the New York banks in withstanding the heavy losses of that period.

He now is a member of the Federal Reserve Board, and for two terms was president of the New York Clearing House.

McGarrah was born in Monroe, N. Y., but has lived in New York City virtually all of his life, forty years having been spent in Wall street. He began his career with the Leather Manufacturers' National bank, in which he rose from cashier to president.

GIVES VIEWS ON BOND QUESTIONS

G. H. Seal Favors Municipal Power Plant in Place
Of More Parks

Editor The Evening News—In looking over the report of the so-called Citizens' Committee, I would like to ask, in regard to proposition No. 1, why we need more fire trucks and fire stations. It seems that Chief Lankford has the fire conditions of Glendale very well under control. We have not had a fire in Glendale big enough to fry a pancake in the last 12 months. There are only two buildings in Glendale too high to light from the ground and they are fireproof.

We need a fire alarm system because we have such poor phone service a house could burn before you can call the department.

As to a police alarm, if we had it, how could we use it? If burglars were threatening and you go out to turn in an alarm, they are liable to knock your block off. I think it would be far better to give Chief Fraser more men so he can patrol the town and keep the crooks out.

"Enlarge City Hall"

In regard to No. 4, a Civic Center, if we could afford it, would be fine, but for $50,000 we could enlarge our City Hall and get along for a while yet very nicely.

As to water-bearing land, I suppose they want to buy the aviation field again for about twice its value.

I hope the Southern California Edison company was well pleased with the power committee's report in regard to no bonds for a power plant. I wish to state here that there was a party from Long Beach who is here from the east, came up on the night of July 28 and stopped to see a friend at Los Feliz and Brand. When they were told we had no lights or electric signs going they refused to go any further up town and went back to Long Beach with a very poor opinion of our city.

"Power Is Needed"

A man came into my office who was from Portland, Ore. I sold him a home on Adams street. He wanted to build a laundry in Glendale and went to see about power to run with and said he could not get treated with decency in the power office, to say nothing of getting any satisfaction in regard to power. (Names and addresses of these parties may be furnished.)

I want to ask the voters of Glendale if first-class, police alarms will bring industries to our town, or do we need power and lights and a plant to insure against shortage of the thing that industries must have.

Thinks Land Too High

In regard to parks, I would like to see some lands in the hills north of Glendale that is valued at $3500 per acre. I have been here 17 years and have never found that spot yet. Of course, that would be a good commission for some one. If it could be put over, provided the people in South Glendale would sell their votes for $35,000 so the north side could have $122,500. We may be easy, but I do not think we are blind to such a deal as that.

Let us vote bonds for what the city really needs such as a power plant and school buildings, not ground. We have ground to hold buildings to take care of all the kiddies that will be in Glendale for a long time to come. Not a civic center, but an addition to our City Hall. And not put the taxes so high in Glendale that people will shun us on account of a high tax rate.

I am in favor of anything that will forward the growth of our city, but not some real estate deal to buy water-bearing land and park land at $3500 per acre.

G. H. SEAL,

1312 South Glendale Avenue.

Bryan And Reducing Crime
Respect for Common People
U. S. To Awaken Some Day
Oh, Hum! School Is Open

By Gil A. Cowan

Thousands of people last Sunday heard William Jennings Bryan speak in Los Angeles. It was rather amusing to hear him confess that while he had a hand in the writing of the Democratic platform that neither party nor any platform was meeting the real issues of the day in reducing crime.

Of course, Mr. Bryan being a lawyer, must know that it lies within the realm of the judicial branch of the government, and not the executive, to impose the penalties which our laws provide. Also, if there is crime it is not the result of the political order, but the social order.

And, while we are in no argumentative mood, the REAL crime of today is placing before the youth many people as IDEAL who are NOT worthy of respect. Because a man is rich in worldly goods, because a man belongs to this, that or the other, because he is an intellectual giant, because he is a physically perfect specimen—just "because" is no reason at all he should be worshipped by young men and women.

What we want in this old world today, or rather, what is needed in America today, is respect for common people. Magazines devote themselves to preaching the gospel of success; other magazines praise the beautiful but dumb movie queens and heroes, and still other magazines are given over to picturing the physically perfect brutes.

Little or nothing is said of John Doe Citizen who fills his place in the world. There are no praises sung for the millions who have got into blind alleys of every day life which lead nowhere other than the grave. Young people are taught in schools and society to abhor the idea of earning an honest living by the sweat of the brow. Well does the writer remember one teacher who couldn't bear to hear the word "sweat" used in her classroom.

Some day America is going to awaken to the fact that the man who peddles potatoes is equally as great as the greatest publisher; that the man who writes paragraphs is just as important as the mightiest financier; that the woman who endows the world with a healthy family is a greater heroine than any picture queen.

But the present moment is an ill-advised time to make the youth of this nation believe it, for they see on every hand a life of ease and luxury and aggrandizement for those who are wont to take it. And only by experience will they learn. Yes, it looks as though we will have to make jailbirds of a nation to teach honesty, thrift and humility.

With the opening of schools it is important that motorists, particularly those going into the more congested parts of the metropolis, take particular caution in guarding the lives of the little ones. More or less moral responsibility is being passed on this year to the drivers in Los Angeles when it is declared that "pedestrians have the right of way at school stops."

Not only that, but pedestrians always have the right of way until they are properly warned of the motorists' intention. And human life is far more valuable than the second saved by snuffing it out.

Fortunate, indeed, is Glendale being a party to the benefits from the first subway to be built in Los Angeles. The Pacific Electric's great tunnel under Crown Hill which will get the Glendale and Hollywood and San Fernando valley interurban trains into the heart of the metropolis minutes ahead of their present schedule is being forced to an early completion.

There is reason behind this move on the part of the contractors, for well they know that upon the dispatch of this one subway depends future contracts, which will be many. Los Angeles is just entering the era of "tubes" and the day is coming when practically all ingress and egress will be made under hills which so admirably fit themselves into the scheme of a great city.

And the downtown district of Los Angeles will have to have a loop elevated line for its street cars if traffic is to be relieved.

It is painful at times to read the calumny spread throughout the east directed at California. Little sympathy can be expressed for those organizations which, for spiteful reasons, are advising people to stay away.

This is Admission day, a legal holiday for banks and public offices. It calls to mind that this state was the thirty-first to enter the union, taking her place without first being a territory.

Admission was accomplished September 9, 1850, after several unsuccessful attempts, due to the ante-bellum political situation. California first was under Spanish rule after being discovered by Viscontino in 1802 and perhaps abandoned as a Russian colony although little is published regarding the latter.

Spain lost Mexico and California and in 1846 General Kearney and Colonel Fremont raised the Bear Flag indicating the republic of California. On June 14, On August 15 the Stars and Stripes were run up and California was declared a territory, but no territorial government was formed in the four years of semi-statehood. But in those four years Washington heard much of California and in 1849 the gold strike at Sutter creek cast the die in favor of granting the self-declared state its

PLAN EXPANSION OF STORE CHAIN

Piggly-Wiggly President to Cover U. S. in Study of Latest Methods

With the most extensive program of expansion in history scheduled for the coming six months, President Arthur C. Jones of the California Piggly-Wiggly company is planning to leave within a week or so for a tour of the country, for an investigation of stores in the chain throughout the United States. Upon his return, the concern will launch a building campaign throughout Southern California, opening almost a score of new stores.

At the present time, the Piggly-Wiggly company has a chain of forty-two stores in the Southern California territory, with ten more scheduled for opening within the next two months. This year's extension program, already accomplished, has meant an addition to the company's investment in stock and fixtures of some $500,000, while the real estate and buildings purchased or leased for the establishment of stores meant an additional $500,000.

Visit Big Territory

On his tour, President Jones will cover a territory of some 10,000 miles, visiting practically every state in the union, to study advanced methods of food distribution introduced by Piggly-Wiggly operators. He will also confer with large eastern producers of food products, with a view of adding to the connections which now insure a regular supply of best quality foods for the local stores.

"We have every confidence in the future of Southern California," said Mr. Jones, "and we are preparing for an expansion program greater than any ever undertaken by our company. I believe that the Southland is due for a decided commercial boom within the next few months, and the Piggly-Wiggly is preparing for it."

GOES TO ATTEND INSURANCE MEET

C. M. L. Nelson Wins Trip To Quebec Gathering Of Fifty Agents

Charles M. L. Nelson of 1135 North Adams place, with offices in the Central building at 111 East Broadway, was fortunate in being one of the winners of the contest held early this year by the Travelers' Insurance company, which he represents, with a trip to the sixtieth anniversary celebration, September 23, 24 and 25, in Quebec, Canada, as a reward.

With over fifty other winners in the contest, Mr. Nelson will leave tonight in a special car for the convention city. Complete railroad fare, Pullman expenses and meals will be furnished these men, all of whom will be gone over five weeks.

Scenic Route East. Traveling north, they will spend one day in Oakland, then go on through the Shasta country, visiting Seattle, and then going on to Vancouver, B. C. From Vancouver they will go by boat to Prince Rupert and then on east through the Jasper national park. They will stop in Montreal and arrive in Quebec September 22. The convention will be held at Chateau Frontenac.

On Friday, September 26, the California delegation will leave for Boston. While in the New England states they will visit the company's head office at Hartford, where they will see the tallest building in the New England states. It is interesting to learn that the tower on the building is used as a lookout for forest fires.

Return by South. From Boston Mr. Nelson will take trips to New York and other eastern cities. He will take a boat from New York to New Orleans, spending five days on the water. From New Orleans he will come west to Phoenix, Ariz., to visit his sister, and then come on home to resume his business in Glendale.

While on his trip Mr. Nelson intends to send postal card accounts of his experiences to his policy holders. Mrs. Nelson will be in charge of the office during the absence of her husband.

The City Planning commission last night considered an application from property owners for the establishment of a commercial district on East Broadway at the convergence of East Wilson avenue. The commission also considered an application from property owners for the establishment of a commercial district at Tenth street, opposite the city reservoir. Hearings on both applications were set for 8 o'clock next Monday night, at the City Hall, where last night's meeting was held, Chairman T. W. Watson presiding.

A petition was presented to the commission last night, signed by approximately fifty property holders who object to the establishment of a commercial district on Tenth street opposite the city reservoir.

Action on Grades. The petitioners state they have faith in the willingness and ability of the city officials to beautify the premises at this point and thus obviate the necessity for a commercial district, by increasing property values and heightening the tone of the neighborhood.

It was decided that as soon as P. J. Hayselden, secretary of the City Planning commission, returns from his vacation, the body will take up the matter of separating the grades at the Los Feliz road and Brand boulevard crossings of the Southern Pacific tracks. The railroad commission now has all the figures on the coast of the proposed work, according to Mr. Watson, and the time is opportune to inaugurate a concerted effort to secure the improvement, which is conceded to be of decided importance.

work, they will not be given after July 1, 1925, and, as a matter of fact, are not being given now. Penmanship and spelling, both elective courses at the Glendale Union High school, are of an altogether higher character than these subjects as taught in the grammar schools, while the only arithmetic taught here is commercial arithmetic. In short, we are already complying with the ruling of the state board of education."

Standards Stiffening. At present graduates of any grammar school in the state may enter the Glendale Union High school, but Mr. Moyle is of the opinion that the new ruling may make it necessary at some future time to adopt a rule making it obligatory for pupils to take spelling, penmanship and arithmetic in grammar school, or compelling them to pass examinations before being admitted to high school, regardless of whether or not they possess grammar school diplomas.

All of which may be interpreted as indicating that the educational standards of California, already as high as any in the Union, are rapidly stiffening, a consummation which Mr. Moyle believes is bound

SILVER WEDDING IS CELEBRATED

Mr. and Mrs. Frank L. Fox Showered With Gifts On Anniversary

Artistic arrangements of late summer flowers and roses, gifts of silver, messages from friends in all parts of the United States and greetings from relatives and friends, formed the setting for the celebration Sunday of Mr. and Mrs. Frank L. Fox's twenty-fifth wedding anniversary, at their home, 345 North Kenwood street.

The anniversary dinner at the Oakmont Country club was served only to relatives, covers being laid for Mr. and Mrs. Frank L. Fox, Dr. and Mrs. T. C. Donnell, Mrs. Alice Fox, Miss Jane Fox of Long Beach, Mr. and Mrs. J. F. Woodard of Redlands, Miss Alice Merritt and F. T. Woodsum of Glendale.

They also received telegrams, cards and gifts from relatives and friends in Lexington, Neb., their former home, and where they were married twenty-five years ago. Mr. and Mrs. Fox have been residents of Glendale for the past four years. During this time they have made a host of friends here, who called during the afternoon and evening to bestow their good wishes.

IMPROVEMENT OF BOULEVARD PLAN

Colorado Property Owners Plan for Permanent Organization

Interest in the various projects for the improvement of Colorado boulevard was manifested by a record turnout of property owners that was held Friday night at the home of Victor Daniels, 324 West Colorado boulevard, when plans were formed tentatively for the formation of an organization to represent the property owners of the entire street and to secure the co-operation of existing committees and organizations.

Dr. Jessie A. Russell presided, with Mrs. Nadia Williams as temporary secretary, and a committee consisting of Dr. C. L. Marlenee, John Frei and Victor Daniels was named to prepare plans for promoting the organization and to confer with officials of other bodies. Mrs. W. S. Smith, M. G. Musser, Dr. Marlenee and J. A. Officers Must Make Good says a well known Los Angeles financial journal in an article appearing in their August number. We quote the following:

"Many investors, when they learned that the Royalties Investment Company officers could not transfer their stock until stockholders had received back their investment in 100% dividends—also that they receive no salary (or commission from operation of business) for one year, were surprised, but when it was also ascertained that every stockholder absolutely receives every dollar invested in dividends as earned before the officers receive a cent of dividend on their individual organization stock holdings, it simply astonished them and suggested that the officers are obliged to make good, in order to benefit themselves."

Sixteen per cent cash dividends paid to stockholders in less than ten months is our record. Is this "making good"?

Royalties Investment Company is engaged in the business of general finance as applied to real estate, first mortgage loans, purchase and sale of carefully selected trust deeds and the erection and sale of inexpensive quality homes. Wise investors know this to be a sound and profitable business.

To the Citizens of Glendale—

The greatest undeveloped resources of any commonwealth or community are not in its unworked mines, uncut forests, unharnessed streams; nor in its banks, blocks or business; but in its boys and young men, girls and young women, who, within a generation, will make or mar their community, commonwealth or country.

Many circumstances, interests and agencies in every community work—some secretly, some openly, all ceaselessly for the wasting of these vast and undeveloped resources in young manhood and young womanhood, while home, church and school are working for their conservation.

A great constructive agency, working with the home, church and school, has arisen in the last half century to champion the cause of boys and young men, striving to make it as easy as possible for them to go right and as hard as possible for them to go wrong. It is the YOUNG MEN'S CHRISTIAN ASSOCIATION—an agency many sided, social, athletic, educational, friendly, religious, practical and now operating in nearly a thousand cities, in specially planned buildings provided by interested citizens, and having a combined value in Canada and the United States of more than $150,000,000.

These buildings are community centers, radiating right influences, good cheer, health, thrift and moral uplift—they are power houses for community betterment.

The next big thing in Glendale must be a Y. M. C. A. building.

Rapidly growing Glendale needs it—our boys and young men desire and deserve it.

There is not now an available, attractive place in Glendale, open every day, where boys and young men may go and spend their leisure profitably. The time for action has come.

$275,000 will secure for Glendale a modern Y. M. C. A. building—with gymnasium, swimming pool, club rooms and other features of an up-to-date association equipment.

This building will serve a two-fold purpose in that the privileges of the gymnasium, baths, swimming pool and other departments are to be available for the use of girls and women one day in the week until Glendale has a Young Women's Christian Association.

A community-wide campaign to raise the required $275,000 will be inaugurated with a civic "get-together" dinner on September 15, and organized solicitation will begin the next morning and continue through seven working days, terminating with September 23.

Success in this campaign can only be secured by a united effort. The building will fill a vital need in Glendale and visualize the civic pride, municipal enterprise and progressive public spirit of our citizens. The result of a successful campaign will give Glendale desirable distinction.

Subscriptions are payable in five installments, six months apart, beginning November 1, 1924, and ending November 1, 1926. No subscriptions are binding unless $275,000 is secured prior to the date of the first payment becoming due.

We invite your most generous cooperation in securing for Glendale this great plant for character building and community service.

CHAPTER XLVII.

"No, I don't believe he does; I don't believe he even suspects it," Hilary said. "But everyone says that Vi went to California for her divorce with the full intention of marrying Craig when she came back. And just there you stepped in!"

"Vi and Craig!" Buttery smiled. "She leads him a nice life! It isn't his money, either," she added, "for Billy Mann is rushing her now, and he's got seeds, and besides, her father'll leave her lots! She must like Craig!" she ended, naively.

"Well, she could do that, and keep out of Mattheawan!" Hilary countered.

Dora was still thoughtful, looking amused and interested.

"I can see what would fascinate her in Craig," she said suddenly. Hilary, now pinning a bronze net over her thick soft crown of braids, looked at her with sudden gravity.

"Butterfly, that's a remarkable thing for a man's wife to say!" she observed, reproachfully.

"Oh, I know it is!" Dora answered, childishly, with her eyes watering. "But I—I can't help it!"

"My darling, you must help it!" "But, Sis," Dora persisted, after a pause, in which Hilary had continued her dressing, "you can't make yourself feel what you don't feel!"

"I think you can!" Hilary answered, positively, making herself look suddenly foreign, with the fastening of old-fashioned enamel and fringe earrings in her ears.

"Well, you've never been in love, and you've never been married," Dora reminded her, warmly.

"No, I suppose I haven't. And from the way you all act, I don't feel any particular call," Hilary retorted, cheerfully. "Why on earth you can't be happy, and satisfied, and go on thinking about Craig as you did when you married him, I can't see! Any other man would be just the same, when the novelty had worn off, as far as that goes! And Craig is such a darling, so decent, and considerate—"

"Oh, decent and considerate!" Dora echoed, impatiently.

"Well, he is. And when some vamp like Violet really makes an impression on him you may wake up!" Hilary warned her, now breathless in an effort that twisted her like a contortionist as she fastened the silver-embroidered black velvet.

"Sis, you really are gorgeous in

Views and Theatres News Notes

Compiled by Members of The Evening News Staff

"Not So Fast" highly entertained big crowds Sunday and Monday nights at the tent theatre of Mahurin's Players (Murphy's Comedians), corner of Central avenue and Stocker street, Casa Verdugo. The play will continue all week, states Manager J. A. Menard, the curtain rising nightly at 8 o'clock.

Here is a sparkling comedy, full of sizzle and ginger. The pace it leads through three big acts is continuously rapid, the only pauses being made at certain important crossroads, where the audience is invited to partake of thrills that are fresh and different.

"Not So Fast" is good clean fun and the children are getting as big a kick out of it as the grown-ups, declares Mr. Menard. The only way to be sure of seeing the show is to come early or get tickets in advance at J. J. Schulte's drug store, 251 North Brand boulevard.

When Reginald Barker was filming the screen version of "The Valley of Content," Blanche Upright's novel, for the Louis B. Mayer-Metro forces, apart of twenty young married couples, recently arrived from the east, visited the studios at Hollywood, and saw the part of the picture that depicts a family breaking up through the hunt for excessive pleasure. So realistic were these scenes and so deeply impressed were the touring pleasure-seekers that they decided to cancel reservations for that evening at a smart cafe, where they had planned an unusually lively and costly party.

"Some Eye-Opener" "This film is some eye-opener to a fellow who is bound to spend all the coin he can lay his hands on," commented one of the young men. "It's all wrong to go pleasure mad."

Director Barker overheard this last remark and it furnished him with the inspiration for a new title for the picture. "Pleasure Mad" is showing Wednesday at the Gateway Theatre.

In addition to this splendid picture the Gateway Theatre will offer their usual Wednesday evening attraction of selected vaudeville of the better kind.

THE T. D. & L. Gloria Swanson in "Her Love Story" concludes today at the T. D. & L. Theatre. Wednesday and Thursday the feature is Colleen Moore and Conway Tearle in "Flirting With Love."

THE GLENDALE "Revelation," with Viola Dana, continues at the Glendale Theatre.

Uncle Wiggily

By HOWARD R. GARIS

UNCLE WIGGILY AND BETTY'S BOB

Betty Ringtail was a little girl raccoon. The reason she was named Ringtail was because she had rings of light-colored fur on her tail, which, in other places, on either side of the rings, was rather dark. And the reason the little girl's other name was Betty was because she was Elizabeth. And, as you know, anyone who is named Elizabeth is almost always called Betty.

One day, Betty, having washed a piece of fish in the brook before she ate it for breakfast—I mean before she ate the fish, not the brook—one morning Betty started for Uncle Wiggily's hollow stump bungalow. Betty, as do all raccoons, always washed in clean water every bit of food before she ate it. Green corn is about the only thing raccoons don't wash before they eat.

"Hello, Uncle Wiggily!" said Betty politely, as she waved her paw, which was almost like a baby's hand, at the rabbit gentleman. "I have brought the scissors with me," finished Betty.

"Scissors!" exclaimed the old rabbit gentleman with an extra fine twinkle of his pink nose. "Why the scissors?"

"Because I want you to bob my hair—that is, cut it off short," explained Betty. "All the girl animals are having their hair bobbed, and I want mine. That's why I brought you the scissors."

"Oh, but Betty! I can't bob hair!" gasped Uncle Wiggily. "You should go to the barber pig, who takes four and twenty hairs to make a wig. I can't Bob your hair."

"Oh, yes you can," laughed Betty, slyly tickling the old rabbit gentleman in the ribs with the handle of the scissors, so she wouldn't scratch him. "I asked my mother if I could have my hair bobbed, and she said I could if you would do it. Now please do." Betty handed Mr. Longears the scissors. The old rabbit gentleman gave a weary sigh and told the little girl raccoon to sit down on a flat stump.

"We shall pretend that is a barber's chair," he said. "But I fear I shall make a very poor task of bobbing your hair, Betty."

"Oh, I don't mind," laughed the little raccoon, so the rabbit gentleman began to start. He clipped off some of the ends of Betty's fur around the back of her head. Then he took off some more, and a bit additional. There was a puddle of water near the stump, and Uncle Wiggily said Betty had better get up and look in it before he cut any more of her hair.

"The water is like a mirror—see if you like the way you look," said the bunny.

Betty looked and clapped her paws. "Oh, that's just fine!" she cried. "I look wonderful, Uncle Wiggily! You are a good barber for bobbing!"

"And I am a good Bob Cat for nibbling!" suddenly cried a savage voice, and over the spring leaped the bad old Bob Cat with his silly little tail.

Uncle Wiggily didn't know what to do, but Betty cried: "Bob the Bob Cat, Uncle Wiggily! Take the scissors and snip off his foolish little tail. Bob the Bob Cat!"

But when the bad chap heard this he jumped back across the spring, gave a howl and cried: "Don't snip off my tail! Please don't! It's only a short one now, and if you snip any off, all the other animals will laugh at me!" And, being very proud of his silly little tail, and fearing Uncle Wiggily might snip and bob it, the Bob Cat ran away off through the woods as fast as he could go. So he didn't nibble the bunny's ears after all.

And if the fountain pen doesn't splash red ink on the face of the clock, to make it look like a freeman, I'll tell you next about Uncle Wiggily and the late freeny.

GET AT THE CAUSE!

Many Glendale Folks Are Showing How to Avoid Needless Suffering.

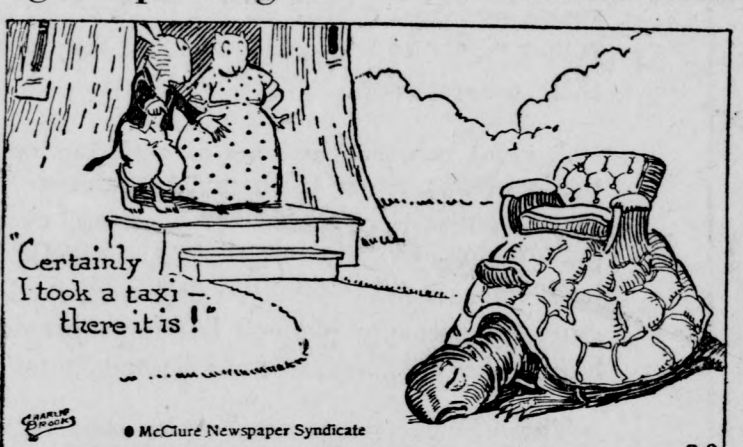

There's nothing more annoying than kidney weakness or inability to properly control the kidney secretions. Night and day alike, the sufferer is tormented and what with the burning and scalding, the attendant backache, headache and dizziness, life is indeed a burden. Doan's Pills—a stimulant diuretic to the kidneys—have brought peace and comfort to many Glendale people. Profit by this Glendale resident's experience.

Mrs. W. C. Swafford, 411 W. Stocker St., says: "When my little girl, Louise, four years of age, was troubled with her kidneys, she had no control over the secretions. So I decided to give her Doan's Pills. After taking three boxes, she was relieved of the trouble."

Mrs. Swafford is only one of many Glendale people who have gratefully endorsed Doan's Pills. If your back aches—if your kidneys bother you, don't simply ask for a kidney remedy—ask distinctly for DOAN'S PILLS, the same that Mrs. Swafford had—the remedy backed by home testimony—60 cents at all dealers. Diet And Health

By LULU HUNT PETERS, M. D.

HAY FEVER—No. 2

Hay fever begins something like an ordinary cold, with sneezing, congestion of the mucous membrane of the nose, and a free watery discharge. It differs, however, from an ordinary cold in this way. It is not infectious and the discharge usually remains watery. There is no danger of your catching hay fever from a person who is affected, as there is in an acute cold. For true hay fever is due to an irritation caused by the pollens of different plants.

As I understand it, it is not due to a mechanical irritation of the pollens but to a poisoning by the absorption of dust. As I told you yesterday, 90 per cent of the pollens that cause hay fever are from the ragweeds, amaranths, chenopods and docks and certain grasses. The ragweeds blooming in the spring and causing the spring fever and the others in the fall causing the fall fever. There are some forms of hay fever that persist the year round in persons who are super-sensitive to different proteins, such as dandruff from dogs, horses and other animals and of the protein of certain foods.

It is said that rose fever is not a true hay fever but that the irritation caused by roses is more a reflex irritation rather than one due to absorption of the pollen.

In the report of a clinic conducted by Dr. Scheperegel in New Orleans, 53 per cent of 1000 cases of hay fever had asthma also. So it looks now as though asthma many times might be due to a super-sensitiveness of the mucous membrane to some protein.

Hay fever seems to have no particular partiality in choosing its victims. The farmer, contrary to the usual opinion, is as susceptible as the city man. The underlying condition that causes this sensitiveness of the mucous membrane to pollen is not fully understood.

In some cases where there is sinus infection—infection of the air spaces in the cranial bones which communicate with the nose—and chronic catarrhal condition of the mucous membrane, these conditions may cause this susceptibility. In others, polyps (small stemmed tumor vessels) or a deflected septum (a crooked central

Plan For Banquet

Plans for a big banquet some time next week, are being made by the Women's Athletic club. Preliminary plans were made yesterday afternoon at the meeting of the board of directors at the home of Mrs. J. H. Toal at 367 West Colorado street.

Glendale women who are desirous of joining the club are asked to communicate with Mrs. Paul E. Webb at Glendale 3959. At that opportunity will also be given for enrolling in the gymnasium class for club members to begin September 22 in connection with the Glendale high night school.

GOVERNOR WILL NOT HALT BOUT

REFUSES TO INTERFERE IN FIGHT

Society Threatens to Secure Restraining Order; Luis Favored in Betting

Odds 8 to 5

NEW YORK, Sept. 9.—Betting in sporting circles here on the outcome of the Will-Firpo bout Thursday night remains 8 to 5 with Firpo the big favorite. Very little wills money can be found, and those professing to be staunch wills backers are running to cover when the question of "putting up" is brought up.

TRENTON, N. J., Sept. 9.—Governor Silzer today, in reply to the protests of Jersey City church organizations, declared that he would not call off the Firpo-Will fight scheduled to be held Thursday night.

Deportation Demand Is Taken to President

WASHINGTON, Sept. 9.—Canon William S. Chase of New York today carried to the White House his demand for the deportation of Luis Angel Firpo, Argentine prize fighter, before his scheduled bout with Harry Will, negro heavyweight, on Thursday.

Restraining Order Is Sought From Court

JERSEY CITY, N. J., Sept. 9.—In a last minute effort to stop the fight between Luis Firpo, "Wild Bull of the Pampas," and Harry Will, scheduled to be held at Boyle's Thirty Acres on Thursday night, Herbert Clarke Gilson, attorney for the society for the prevention of vice and promotion of public morals, today announced he would seek a restraining order. Commissioner of Public Safety Quinn went ahead making police and transportation arrangements, nevertheless, asserting as the match was advertised as a boxing exhibition he did not see how they could hold that it was against the law.

Firpo Favorite In Betting at Odds of 6 to 5

NEW YORK, Sept. 9.—The important matter of $6,000 against $5,000 today said that Luis Firpo, the iron-faced boy, would defeat Harry Will at Jersey City on Thursday night, giving the lie to immoderate assertions of obscure origin to the effect that Will had been installed as favorite for the occasion in question.

The bet was reported by the Broad street firm of J. S. Fried & Co. and constitutes a semi-official gauge of public opinion.

Firpo is almost fifty per cent a better ring man today than he was several days in advance of that more or less diverting evening which witnessed his formal introduction to Jack Dempsey.

FIGHT RESULTS

At New York—Abe Goldstein, world's bantamweight champion, outpointed Tommy Ryan of McKeesport, Pa., fifteen rounds. At Philadelphia—Jack Renault of Canada won judge's decision over George Godfrey, Philadelphia heavyweight, ten rounds.

PENNANT RACE IS STILL UNSETTLED

Yank Players Are Unstrung After Winning; Tigers Back In Battle

By JOHN B. FOSTER
Special Correspondence of the Glendale Evening News, Copyright, 1924.
NEW YORK, Sept. 9.—The Detroiters are back in the fight again after seemingly drifting away from the storm center in the American League. Any team that takes it is likely to get badly left before the end of the season.
The Tigers are bound home to fight everything on their own aviation field, and no team will get away from the Michigan jungle without being badly scratched until the time comes when Cobb is willing to admit that he cannot finish first or second—if that time ever comes.
The handicap that the Yanks face right now is that the team is already afflicted with "nerves" and is so radically different from its 1923 complex that it needs outfitting from the toes up. The New York players walk around as if in a daze, quite unlike the pert and perky crowd that smashed their way through in 1923 with a pitching staff that could not lose. Huggins, who is inspirational when "het up" and a good adviser to men, has his hands full trying to prop up a team that has shown weakness in the joints, and attempting to infuse a little ginger into the old fellows who came fast when the tide turns.
McGraw probably is having the same trial with the Giants. Players who are accustomed to winning all the time get set in the notion that fate has turned against them when they are losing. They feel that they are getting the short end of everything and after that they are like farm hands working overtime on a hot day.
The Washingtons must finish away from home as well as the New Yorks, and that is the only thing that gives the Yanks a little ray of sunshine now and then.
Almost Set Record
What a pity the Brooklyn dubs did not have another double header to play on Friday. They might have set up a record of five twin victories in successive days, and that would have been a mark that would have stood for a long time.
The Giants gathered a double header in their sortie into Philadelphia and picked up half a game on the Brooklyn, who were able to win only one game because that was all they played. It was sorely needed because another defeat would have put the Giants where they would have been the underdog and much on the defensive. It is defeats in baseball that lose pennants. A game lost takes off six points now and a game won adds three.
While the Brooklyn club is doing such wondrous stunts it should not be overlooked that there is a young pitcher named Ehrhardt who came up from SCHLOCKER MEETS JORDAN AT W. A. C.

Seven Fast Bouts Lined Up For Tomorrow Night At Wilmington

The main event at the Wilmington Athletic club tomorrow night calls for the popular Joe Schlocker of Los Angeles, and Johnnie Jordan, of Oakland, at 135 pounds. Schlocker was awarded the decision over Sailor Ashmore last week. Jordan has just returned from fighting three main events in San Francisco.
The semi-final will bring together Bill Young of Los Angeles, and Willie O'Brien of Hollywood, at 135 pounds. In the special event, Sailor George Etsel meets Joe Oakes, at 118 pounds.
Other bouts on the card are: Harry Lee and Kid Williams, 165 pounds; Billy Afoa and Leo Morrissey, 145 pounds; Eddie Brown and Cave Man Carlson, 145 pounds; and George Lopez and Young Bellamy, 110 pounds, in the opener.

FIRPO PREDICTS GIANTS HANGING ON LEAGUE LEAD

Luis Has Own Ideas About Training for Coming Fight With Will

By FAIR PLAY
Special Correspondence of the Glendale Evening News, Copyright, 1924.
NEW YORK, Sept. 9.—Luis Firpo, who has come down from Saratoga to New York, where he can put the finishing touches on his training for the Harry Will battle and keep an eye on Canon Chase's deportation proceedings at the same time, has his own ideas about how he should train for a big fight. He listens politely to what is said to him in the way of advice and what is read to him in this connection. But he is never swayed.
"I make short fights," he said to the writer, speaking for the first time in English in a conversational way. "For Dempsey, I trained for four rounds, he to beat me or me to beat him quick. That is the way I fight." Firpo spoke words of truth. He is not the temperamental that is willing to undergo a long grind in preparing for a battle, that is willing to undergo the customary dieting and rigorous, punishing work.
Boxed Bill Brennan
It was Jack Johnson who taught Firpo a real lesson. When Luis was training for Bill Brennan, the former negro world's champion met Firpo a number of times in the Madison Square Garden gymnasium and quickly convinced the big Argentine that there were a hundred things about the science of boxing that he did not know and probably never could learn.
When Luis finally gave up his bouts with Johnson, he said to his closest friends that he had found out what he wanted to know.
"I am a fighter, not a boxer," he said. "And I shall win my fights by fighting."

Some of the wise guys about the gym talked him out of this. They kidded him along and told him he had improved greatly and was a wonderful boxer. Thus flattered, Firpo went into the ring and made a boxing match instead of a fight, out of his bout with Brennan. It was not until the twelfth round, when he cast science to the winds and waded in like the wild bull he is, that Brennan went to the canvas.

Changes Tactics
Luis has never gotten over feeling sore that he worked as hard as he did for more than eleven rounds when—as he believes—he could have ended the battle in the first.
When preparing for Dempsey, he just shut his steeth and said the fight would be short. So why work himself to death training? As a matter of fact, two days before the fight, he told the writer that either he or Dempsey would be out of the fight within four rounds, and it is now known by insiders that he confessed to his intimates he would be the man to go out of the fight. He said he had not had enough experience and that Tex Rickard should be lashed between two wild steers and torn apart for forcing him to go into such a battle before he was ready.

Will Be Short
In his training at Saratoga, Firpo has done a lot of his sparring in private and not much of that. This because he does not expect to box with Will, but to rush in and make a fight of it from the first clang of the bell.
He does not think Will will last very long. If he does, then Luis realizes clearly than anyone else, that the more rounds that go by, the better will be Harry's chances of success. But the man is not worrying much about this. The ease with which he knocked Dempsey out of the ring a year ago this month has convinced him that boxing and fighting are two different things, and he very much inclines to favor the latter sort of milling.

Colima Meets Sage; Johnny Adams and Salvatore Fight for Crown

Fight fans who are fortunate enough to hold duets for tonight's milling at Jack Doyle's Vernon arena and successful enough to find seats after passing the turnstile, will witness a double bill when Bert Colima and Bob Sage settle the argument started last week, and Johnny Adams, Pacific Coast lightweight champion, defends his crown against the onslaughts of one Phil Salvatore.
Sage and Colima were the top-notchers on last week's bill, but a few seconds after the opening gong sounded, Sage went down from a low blow and Referee George Blake gave him the decision. Tonight the Whittier flash is going to "keep 'em up," he says, and a whirlwind bout should be the result.
Phil Salvatore has been hankering after a crack at Johnny Adams' lightweight crown and tonight he will realize his ambitions. Whether the crown will have to be made over to fit Phil is another matter, but if Phil does not have a new top piece tomorrow morning, it won't be his fault.
Stockyards Jack Rose and Johnny Reno, a couple of 135-pounders, are booked for the special spot. Other bouts on tonight's card are: Johnny Grella and Billy Afoa, 145 pounds; Louis Martin and Young Bellamy, 115 pounds; Eddie Spurley and Benny Palmer, 122 pounds; Bob Bridges and Joe Firpo, 138 pounds.

DEER SEASON IN L.A. COUNTY SOON

Wooded Areas Are Closed to Hunters Until After Heavy Downpour

LOS ANGELES, Sept. 9.—One week more and the deer season will be open in Los Angeles district and hunting will be more or less a game of guess because of the county, state and federal regulations.

Practically all forest area is closed and the county ordinance permits of hunting only in open country—none whatever in canyon or wooded country. However, should it rain, the ordinance will likely be abandoned, in the opinion of Edwin L. Hedderly, assistant fish and game commissioner, with offices in the Pacific Finance building here.

With the opening of the season it will be possible to bring in the carcasses of deer from other open districts and hunting this year is excellent in the eastern Sierras, the official reports. Several forest areas in the north, however, are closed until the danger of fire is past.

Plenty of Doves
Dove hunting has been fair, according to Mr. Hedderly, and the

NEW YORK CLOSING

By W. S. COUSINS
For International News Service.

NEW YORK, Sept. 9.—The bulls regained control of the market today, though they were not able to retain all the gains recorded in the first hour after the opening and in the course of the strong upward movement, speculative leaders added from 1 to 5 points to their opening prices. It is difficult to say whether the main elections were a cause or an excuse for this bullish demonstration, for Wall Street in general paid less attention to the election than is generally believed.

The market exhibited strength in the reaction which immediately followed and trading fell off as soon as prices showed a tendency to decline. The bears attempted to check the movement by heavy selling of American Woolen, Daniel Boone Woolen and other stocks which yielded rather easily in the past. Only a temporary recession was forced in active stocks and the market in the fourth hour was ready to resume its advance.

Operations for the rise in the railroad list were resumed under the leadership of Delaware and Lackawanna. At 146 the stock showed a slight advance of five points for the day and a new high for the year. New Jersey Central gained five points and Pittsburgh and West Virginia was strong and Pere Marquette sold in good volume at fractionally higher prices.

Chandler Motors sold more than point higher while the market awaited the report of the action of directors of an announcement was made that this had been cut in two, the stock declined about 2 points to 34 1/2, but the bulk of the selling was around 35, the same as at the previous close.

The bullish press were active today and transactions were particularly heavy in stock spread by them. Colorado Fuel, above 39, showed the effect of its recent comeback, and Cast Iron Pipe, General Electric, American Water Works, Baldwin, Marine preferred were able to hold most of their gains.

National Enameling in the early trading reflected the optimistic statement of the president of the company by selling above 20, but fresh attacks were launched against this stock late in the day and it dropped to 18 1/2, oil stocks which were the main feature in yesterday's sharp rise near the end of the session, were conspicuously inactive and some of them were reactionary under profit-taking.

OPERATIONS PERFORMED
The following operations were performed this morning at the Glendale Sanitarium and Hospital: Mrs. W. A. Mulligan of 221 East Chestnut street, major; Mrs. Dean Silverberg of 919 East Acacia avenue, tonsilectomy; Ben Gulick of 718 North Louise street, tonsilectomy; V. Francy of 136 North Kenwood street, minor.

FIGHT CLOUDS IN TRIP TO CAPITAL

above, so as to make reports to the incoming aviators.

While waiting, President Coolidge posed for photographers and then engaged in an animated conversation with Secretary Weeks, Secretary Hughes and Secretary Mellon.

Mrs. Coolidge had Mrs. Hughes, Mrs. Patrick and wives of other officials in the White House car. The field was decorated with the flags of the nations through which the flyers passed during their circumnavigation of the globe.

Light waiting for the first glimpse of the flyers, President Coolidge, wearing a soft hat, overcoat and rubbers, walked around inspecting some of the airplanes, some of ships being in the big hangars. Staff Sergeant E. S. Phillips explained the operation of some of the machines to the president and Mrs. Coolidge. Photographers took his picture while he was on the outboard of a plane.

Returning to his car, the president chatted with Major-General John A. Lejeune, commandant of the Marine corps, and other army and navy officers.

'Raisins' Is Latest Glendale Publication

Glendadians aren't going to have to consume boxes of sustained California raisins to get their daily allotment of iron enthusiasm, for this necessary ingredient is being furnished by a neat little sheet published in the interests of the $275,000 development program of the Glendale Y. M. C. A. under the title "Raisins."

Copies that were circulated about the city yesterday and today bore the caption "Crate 1, Cluster 1," hinting that additional copies will be on hand.

"Raisins" will tell Glendale people the things they ought to know about the big campaign at hand, it is said. To quote exactly, "We are particularly interested right now in 'raisin' things. In raisins there is iron. Iron gives pep. Is there any better name at such a time?"

OPERATE ON DOCTOR
A minor surgical operation was performed this morning at the Glendale Research hospital upon Dr. E. J. Woodworth of 1204 Fourth avenue, Santa Monica.

Dr. Farr of 712 East Garfield street had her tonsils removed at the same institution.

MUNICIPAL AUTO CAMP IS URGED

Members of Exchange Club Endorse Idea; Musical Program at Meeting

Members of the Glendale Exchange club, at the meeting held today noon at the Masonic temple, endorsed a municipal auto camp for Glendale, and President R. E. Johnston appointed William Baker, W. C. Waring and Milton Cova as members of a committee to draft a resolution urging the City Council to provide such a camp.

The musical program was provided by J. C. Strauss, of the Strauss School of Popular music, 103 1/2 South Brand boulevard, and C. E. Hamilton, of the Ahlmann Drug store, through the courtesy of R. W. Ahlmann. Mr. Strauss played several piano solos and acted as accompanist for several vocal selections rendered by Mr. Hamilton.

Club members will assemble at the Santa Fe depot in Los Angeles next Sunday morning when President Johnston leaves for Nashville, Tenn., as the club's delegate to the national convention.

William Baker was chosen to preside at the meeting next week when President Johnston will be absent. Pete Neise announced the Hollywood Exchange club bowling team will play a return game at the Recreation alleys a week from Thursday, and will seek to avenge the defeat handed them last Thursday by the local team in Hollywood.

George Orghibail, R. E. Brown and Harvey Bates were named members of a committee to arrange suitable menus for the weekly luncheons. President Johnston spoke on the open forum meeting to be held at the Oakmont Country club next Thursday night under the auspices of the Chamber of Commerce, and about seventy-five reservations for the Exchange club were made.

DOUBLE DECK FOR STREET PLANNED

Chicago to Make Experiment
To Relieve Traffic
On Market Row

By J. C. ROYLE

Special Correspondence of the Glendale Evening News, Copyright, 1924

NEW YORK, Sept. 9.—It has been no trick for many years to change a physical complexion, as the prosperity of the beauty shops

attest. But as a result of work which has just been inaugurated,

the business complexion of a section of one of the greatest business centers of the country will be altered. The success or failure of the experiment will affect practically every congested city in the United States, altering the trend of traffic, the location of industries and property values.

The experiment involves the double decking of South Water street, Chicago, for eighty years the terminal and market for all fruit, poultry and dairy products which have come to that city for distribution. And the problem to be solved all grows out of traffic congestion, due to the speeding up of business through use of motor vehicles. That same problem exists in practically every business center in the country today.

Build Two Streets

South Water street, one of the most colorful and most antiquated marts of the country, has been on its last legs for years.

The problem has been to make it grow new legs. Engineers hope that this problem will be solved

by an innovation—the first double-decked boulevard ever laid out in America—the cost of which will be approximately $24,000,000.

About October 1 workers will commence to wreck the first section of this market district which has become almost impassable as a thoroughfare in which hundreds of dealers do about $500,000,000 worth of business annually. Out of the wreckage will emerge a boulevard built on a new principle to meet modern traffic problems. Its top deck will be a broad highway for fast, light passenger automobiles and foot passengers. The lower deck will consist of three roadways for trucks and horse-drawn vehicular traffic.

On the upper deck, thousands of cars, now practically blocked by piled produce and chaotic truck and wagon traffic, will have a highway 80 feet wide, giving easy access to the southwest side of the city. Below, beside the three roadways will be eight-foot loading platforms abutting on new buildings and a 27-foot esplanade on the river front to handle the traffic coming from Lake

Michigan. This thoroughfare will extend for over a mile from

EXPLAINS OBJECT OF WORLD FLIGHT

Air Forces Show Congress
Other Nations Can Fly
Across Ocean

By DAVID LAWRENCE

Special correspondent of The Glendale Evening News, Copyright, 1924

WASHINGTON, Sept. 9.—

What is the purpose of the world-encompassing flight of the American aviators? Is it simply a stunt to prove the courage of the American flying corps? Is it a challenge to the aviation personnel of other countries?

These questions no doubt have occurred to many people as they have observed the progress of the trip around the world and the careful preparations made by the army and navy to accomplish their objective. The answers are to be found in the experience of aviation officials in both the army and navy with Congress. For no matter what spectacular phases of the flight may be uppermost in the public mind today, those interested in developing American aviation as a military weapon as well as a commercial industry are gratified beyond words at the amount of attention the exploit has attracted.

Hitherto Congress has been more or less indifferent to the pleas for extensive appropriations made by the army and navy. It is true that Congress has granted appropriations more or less generously, reckoning it from the congressional viewpoint, which insists on cutting down the army and navy anyhow.

Cite Other Nations

But aviation officers have pointed in vain to the large sums appropriated by Great Britain and France for the development of aviation. It has been contended by army officers, for instance, that

European countries since the war have spent more money on aviation than anything else. In America the fact that a billion was spent on an air program which was not ready when the armistice was signed has tended to discourage Congress in expending more money.

The aircraft devotees have had a hard time of it since the war.
They hoped that the air mail service would stir up interest and make Congress appropriate money to encourage commercial aviation.
To some extent, results have been obtained. Many aircraft concerns went out of business with the war and have not been missed because some of them never became efficient. But, unless the government kept on buying a certain number of planes annually, there was no incentive for private industry to keep on experimenting or building.

The industry was in danger of absolute collapse. It is by no means at this time what army officers would like to see, but they have hopes that the world flight will put an emphasis on aviation which will keep it before the eyes of the American people and Congress in particular.

Then there is another aspect of the world flight which will become a subject of discussion when Congress reconvenes. The American aviation units have proved that with a relatively small sum of money they can accomplish a great deal. The whole trip around the world was a minor expense, as military items go. Given more money, they feel they can justify the appropriations made and that America should not only keep pace with the rest of the aircraft building countries, but lead them.

When the Washington conference to limit armament was held there was no agreement on the construction of submarines or aircraft nor on the size of standing armies. Battleships and other fighting craft were limited. But since that time France and Great Britain have been engaging in an air competition which has started a good deal of war talk from time to time. From the viewpoint of national defense, it now has been demonstrated that a hostile nation can come across the ocean with airplanes and zeppelins.
